Forward Air Corporation, a logistics company based at 1915 Snapps Ferry Road — the Chasan Industrial Complex and former Magnavox location — celebrated the addition of employees and the completion of building improvements. The corporation received Tennessee Economic Development funds in exchange for maintaining a presence in Greeneville, adding 105 jobs and expending nearly $4.3 million in capital investments. Participating in Tuesday's ribbon cutting are, from left, Greeneville Mayor W.T. Daniels, State Sen. Steve Southerland, Forward Air Vice President Jeff Taylor, Chairman Emeritus Scott Niswonger, State Rep. David Hawk, Forward Air Senior Vice President/CFO Rodney Bell, Tennessee Department of Economic and Community Development Commissioner Randy Boyd and Greene County Mayor David Crum.
